Both 's. I can say that I've been very happy overall with both cars. The only downside is the maintenance expense compared to Toyota's. There has been zero unscheduled maintenance expense with every Toyota I've owned. More comfortable I'm 6'3". Great road trip car, for my wife and I with plenty of room for luggage with the back seat folded down. GREAT mileage never less than 43 with everyday driving and up to 55mpg on road trips. We used it as a 2nd car and whoever had to drive the furthest that day.. Fun and cheap! We both survived. I got this car used. Had to replace battery, tires, wipers and the little container for water bc it was sitting outside for 2 years. After that I have to say that this car is awesome! Even in Colorado snow it stays steady Sunroof is tight. Handles great. Fun to drive. I have over , miles on my little beetle and it still drives perfectly. Quick acceleration, can still climb to mpg in no time flat. Excellent steering and response time. I've driven it in rain, snow, sleet and sun and it does great. Only downside for us was the rear seats if someone is tall not a real fun ride but the front seats are comfortable. I bought a convertible beetle with 60k. I took it a Volkswagen dealer and they did a diagnostic and confirmed what I told them, suggested that I do a transmission fluid check and it could fix the problem I said BS. I had read all the complaints about this car and my mechanic also told me that I should have never bought it, he pointed out the the transmission could not be serviced and all of the hoses are made of plastic that with heat they become brittle and break.. I would never buy a volkswagen again.. We bought our 03 Beetle with the 1. Within weeks it had an engine light on. I have battled the engine light, among other things, ever since. We changed an injector and a coil pack on the number 2 cylinder because of a persistent miss. This was after diagnosis of codes would not narrow the problem down. Immediately following it began cranking hard on start and not starting until the second attempt. First code said crankshaft sensor so we replaced that. Had to replace camshaft sensor thereafter to fix the problem. Next it threw a coolant system code so we replaced the ECT sensor. After that the thermostat. This car was a reliability nightmare. Never ever again. Popular searches. My notifications My Account. More about the New Beetle. View Photos. List Price Estimate. ZIP Code. See all for sale. Had several back and forth emails with him as I did not have a phone at the time. For me, the problem is, he's selling the trucks I like so freakin fast, I don't have a chance to get to him soon enough as I am out of state. I'm still looking, so maybe in the near future I'll get there. Overall good contacts. This guy is very weird.. I call back he sold the car we made a real deal on. I purchased the car I was looking at. And, they were honest and very nice. I would recommend. Soooo extremely wonderful and helpful! I'm still wanting this car!! Hoping for it to come down a bit. Super nice people who made our car buying experience easy, fair and fun! Would definitely do business with again. Very responsive and helpful. I would give them five stars but my phone only went up to 4. I appreciate how the appointment was set up, I walked in and spoke with Tommy my sales agent, gave him my info. I couldn't say no to quality service like that!! I have bought many automobiles in my time. These guys are the best I have ever felt with. I had a price I was willing to pay and they were very agreeable to discounting the car I wanted and increasing what they would pay for my trade! It seemed we all got what we wanted win win deal Patrick. Poor communication and when told they'd get back to me after speaking to manager, never heard back. I did talk to some one over the phone but the vehicle has to many miles on it for that price. Good price,but the car wasn't in good repair,someone reolace the fender and didn't do a good job also missing an part,seen ti be that the car was in accident and they did a quick repair,. My husband went to look at a few cars on a Sunday. The guy, who gave us a nickname, seemed annoyed that we wanted to test drive and look at so many cars. Eassa was great. Didn't buy the car I went to look at, but I bought a great Scion with low miles. This is worst dealer I have ever seen. Don't ever go to this dealer. He doesn't know how to talk and how to deal. He sold be broken saying nothing is wrong. He didn't even give me plates. He is worst I don't even want to give him 1 star. Worst worst pathetic worst ever. They replied to me very quickly through email. Answered all of my questions. Decided to go with a different car though. Thank you! Volkswagen continued to expand its line of Beetles in with the addition of the Cabriolet i. And perhaps that typifies the most significant development for -- the fact that the Beetle was available in no less the 12 trim packages, offering something for just about every driver. The other significant trend was the fact that a number of features that were available as options in previous years were now standard equipment on a wide range of trim packages. Power windows, for instance, were now standard across the line, as were power door locks, front and side airbags, power heated mirrors, a lighted entry system, cruise control, anti-lock brakes, and an anti-theft alarm system. With so much to choose from, including a wide range of options, it's no wonder that Beetle owners were very enthusiastic about their cars, for the most part. The car's styling, handling, and fuel economy were considered positive features, while drivers had some problems with the limited space in the trunk and rear seat, and the comfort level on long trips. Despite those issue, the Beetle continued to be extremely popular.
